THE ECLIPSES FOR 1877.

THIS year there will be five eclipses, three of the Sun and two of the Moon. The eclipses of the Sun all occur in the night and those of the Moon in the day time. Consequently will all be invisible on this Continent.

The eclipses of the Sun occur at the time of full Moon: Mar. 14th, Aug. 8th and Sept. 6th.

The eclipses of the Moon occur at the time of new Moon: Feb. 27th and Aug. 23d.

PHYLOSOPHY OF HEALTH.

HEALTH is harmony, and a result of an unobstructed circulation of all the Spiritual, Vital, Magnetic, Nervous and Arterial forces and fluids throughout the whole physical system.

In perfect health we have no local uneasiness and scarcely realize that we have separate organs or functions; as a harmonious oneness pervades the whole. When every part is kept active and vigorous by the free circulation and support of all these forces, no uneasiness is felt. The higher forces control the lower, and will take care of the lower if their circulation is not obstructed.

The mind governs the body through the intermediate and circulating forces. We could not raise our hand if we did not first will to do it. The free circulation of the fluids become obstructed by various and often unseen causes. We overtax ourselves with hard labor—overeat—eat improper food—get wet—expose ourselves to sudden change of temperature and take cold. This closes the pores, stops the outward flow of excretions, chills the blood in the small vessels and we feel a chilly sensation; sometimes these effete fluids and gasses are driven on to the internal organs, causing uneasiness and pain and we find ourselves out of balance; coldness, torpor and congestion are the result of these obstructions.

It is the province of medicine and good nursing to remove the various obstructions to the circulating forces without injury to any of the physical functions.

In our early life, physicians freely used the lancet and often quite drained us of all recuperative power, or destroyed our vitality with calomel or other poisons. Now better judgement prevails. We believe in removing the obstructions in the mildest manner—saving what vitality we yet have, and assist nature to accumulate more. We thus prescribe our LIVER PILLS to remove obstructions from the liver, stomach and bowels; COUGH SYRUP to relax and open the excretory tubes; WINE BITTERS to invigorate the digestive organs, &c. So instead of being made sicker we commence to improve from the start.

Warm and moist applications and spitting the surface all assist in relaxing the excretory passages, and arousing action, and all these aids will be properly prescribed in this work in connection with our remedies.

We do not believe in riding a hobby; but instead, we are free to select all the most useful and harmless remedies and applications that will ameliorate the sufferings of humanity.

Neither do we believe in overdosing. Nature must perform the cure; but medicines improve the conditions, relieve the friction and even sustain the strength while nature invigorates.

Wakefield's Family Medicines are admirably adapted to the promotion of health in accordance with the foregoing suggestions.

They have now been in public use thirty-one years. They are extensively used over the entire Western States, and are pronounced, by those who use them, to be the most reliable and useful remedies before the public. They are especially adapted to the diseases of the west. Heads of families who have relied on them for years, say they seldom require the aid of a physician; that their doctor bills used to average about $100. per year, now they pay from five to ten dollars a year for these medicines and always keep them in the house.

There is such a large variety of articles among our list, that some one can be selected to meet the symptoms of almost any attack, and by studying the directions and the succeeding pages of this book, an accurate selection can be made.

All persons know that a medicine for a given disease can be compounded as completely on a large scale, as on a small one; and no physician can afford to spend as much time and labor on a single prescription, as we spend on a large batch. Hence, the advantage of an extensive business.

Catalogue of Wakefield's Family Medicines.

Fever Specific.—This is the most certain and speedy remedy before the public for the cure of sudden Fevers of any kind, Ague and Fever, Dumb Ague, Chills and all periodic diseases. It can be relied on as an effectual anti-periodic. It was used with great success in the early settlement of the West when fevers were more common and malignant than now.

Wakefield's Cough Syrup.—The real value of this remedy can not be computed. Its use is so often required, and it relieves so many serious cases of disease caused by the excretory passages being obstructed, as in Colds, Lung Fever and all diseases of an inflammatory nature. It is also used with great success in Measles, Whooping Cough, Spotted Fever and Consumption.

Its use should be continued until the system is well relaxed and the pulse softened, then follow with small doses of the Fever Specific.

Blackberry Balsam.—This article has not its equal before the public for the cure of Diarrhea, Cholera Morbus and all relaxed conditions of the bowels. It is also very effectual in its relief of Summer Complaint of children, no family should be without it in the house.

Wakefield's Liver Pills.—This is a mild antibilious remedy, and so mild that it can be used with safety for children and delicate females in all conditions. These pills are composed of Podophyllin and other vegetable hepatic remedies combined with a sufficient amount of mild tonic to prevent them from leaving any prostrating effect on the patient. They often correct the stomach and liver without producing much visible effect on the bowels.

Wakefield's Cathartic Pills are similar in many respects to the Liver Pills, but they are more active and are used in acute attacks, but the Liver Pills in larger doses will answer all their uses.

Wine Bitters.—This is no beverage, but a genuine tonic remedy for Weak Stomach, Loss of Appetite, Torpid Liver, Torpid Circulation, General Debility, Headache, &c. It is also much used as a preventive during spring and heat of summer, and to strengthen up after having been reduced by sickness.

Wakefield's Pain Cure.—This is an exceedingly stimulating and warming medicine for external and internal use. It eases violent pain almost instantaneously, by quieting the nerves and arousing the part to a healthy circulation. It is used for Neuralgia, Rheumatism, and nearly all kinds of pain and lameness.

Wakefield's Egyptian Liniment has a good reputation for the cure of nearly all the diseases about Horses and Cattle, as well as Rheumatism, Swellings and other diseases about human beings.

Nerve & Bone Liniment is mild, penetrating, softening and very healing. It is hard to excel for healing wounds on horses or persons.

Wakefield's Eye Salve.—This is a genuine article for Sore Eyes, Old Sores and all soft or watery sores and pimples.

Wakefield's Worm Destroyer is a nice remedy for worms in children. It is prepared in Lozenges, and is quite pleasant to take. A majority of children will eat them for candy.

Brown's Rat Killer is a noted article for the destruction of Rats, Mice, Roaches and Ants. It is now put up in bottles and will keep in perfect condition.

Egyptian Salve.—This is a cleansing and healing remedy for Sores, Cracks, Cuts, Frosted Parts and Burns. It cures Corns and is an excellent adhesive plaster for dressing Cuts and Flesh Wounds.

Waters' Golden Ointment for Old Sores, Burns, Scalds, Bruises, Cuts, &c., sure cure for Felons.

COMMON AILMENTS--THEIR REMEDIES.

That our readers may readily be able to determine the character of any disease in their families, and the remedy required; we proceed to give the symptoms of those diseases that are most frequent, in connection with reference to proper medicines and applications to each.

A Common Cold, is perhaps, the most frequent among human ailments, and about the only ailment the most healthy experience. It is more easily contracted when the blood is disordered. It is so very frequent in its visits, that its symptoms are well understood. The pores become closed, the blood chilled in the small capillaries, and the circulating fluids become so much obstructed that they do not warm and invigorate the surface and extremities; consequently, we feel a chilliness, soreness and lassitude, with an increased action in the arterial passages. We generally have a feeling of tingling or tightness in the head, watery discharge from the nose or eyes, sore throat and hoarseness; followed by a tendency downward towards the Lungs. In short we are out of balance, and these obstructions must be removed before we can get right again.

Treatment.—If the attack is severe, commence with a full dose of Liver Pills, followed soon by large and frequent doses of Cough Syrup. Soak the feet in water as warm as you can bear; next hastily spat with your hand the naked skin over the whole body and limbs, until the skin stings sharply. This will assist in arousing the action on the surface, then cover up warmly in bed, and there remain until you get a good reaction. If the skin continues dry, sponge it while under the clothes with warm water. After sweating has commenced, continue the Cough Syrup in smaller doses for some time. This treatment will throw off a cold and thus prevent it from developing Lung Fever or other disease. Wakefield's COUGH SYRUP thus freely administered soon relaxes the system so fully that the obstructed tubes readily free themselves of the engorgement, and the circulation again becomes complete. It is better to abstain from food except hot sweating teas; and perhaps well roasted onions, which if eaten hot are very sweating—until you get a good reaction.

Influenza is simply a cold prevailing quite universally throughout a community.

We have spoken of colds thus fully because when neglected they often lead to Lung Fevers, Pleurisy and even Consumption.

Lung Fever, Winter Fever and Pneumonia are terms applied to an inflammation of the Lungs. It is generally the result of a deep seated and much neglected cold. The engorgements in the excretory tubes and small blood vessels being general, more effete matter is thrown upon the lungs than they can conveniently dispose of, which causes this morbid inflammation.

It often commences with a slight chill, followed by slow fever, with dull pain in the chest, difficult breathing, full and hard pulse with a dry and deeply coated tongue.

Treatment.—Commence with three of Wakefield's LIVER PILLS, soak the feet in hot water. Give large and frequent doses of COUGH SYRUP and keep the skin soft by spunging under the clothes with warm water. If there is any pain in the chest apply a large thick wet compress, and change often. Persevere in this treatment until the pulse is softened and perspiration is induced, then give teaspoonfull doses of FEVER SPECIFIC, which will give force to aid in throwing off engorgement to the circulating fluids.

Use your judgement in your efforts to induce general perspiration as soon as you can, and with the least nervous disturbance to the patient. Observe well the above general treatment, for it is very successful. Some physicians, instead of relaxing the engorged organs give freely of morphine and opiates, which bind the engorged organs the more strongly.

Give the patient food judiciously when the appetite is ready to receive it. Rubbing the surface in a magnetic way is of considerable help in the treatment of this disease, as it aids greatly in the support of the prostrated nervous system.

FACILITATE PERSPIRATION.—In addition to the above treatment in cases of more severe engorgement or local inflammation in any part of the body, take two pieces of thick or blanket flannel, large enough to wrap around each limb from above the knee down to cover the foot; wring these lightly out of soft water as hot as you can and apply as hot as the patient can bear it, then quickly apply dry flannel blankets around to retain the heat. Keep the water hot and after fifteen minutes rewet the cloths as before, after fifteen minutes make the third application. When the last application gets cool take off the cloths, sponge hastily with cold water, wipe dry with a coarse towel, then with the naked hands, and cover up warm in dry clothes or in bed. After a few hours, if relief is not fully obtained repeat this process. If performed well it will produce perspiration and a much better reaction than simply soaking the feet, and is useful in all local obstructions, torpid conditions and cold limbs.

It thaws out the congested blood and improves its circulation in the limbs.

Bronchitis should be treated much the same as for common cold.

Croup is an inflammatory condition of the Larynx or the Trachea of the throat, and attended with a peculiar

The most worthless of all purses is that which is filled with borrowed money.

For Liver Complaint and a feeling of heaviness in the right side, there is no better remedy than LIVER PILLS internally, and PAIN CURE externally.

hoarseness. It is sometimes spasmodic and has its worst symptoms in the night.

Treatment.—Give the COUGH SYRUP in table-spoon-full doses often, until you feel a good deal of nausea, then lessen the dose. Put the feet in hot water to invite the blood downward. Steep smartweed in vinegar and apply hot to the throat and change often. If smartweed is not at hand, use jimson, lobelia or hops, keep the patient warm and quiet for many hours after the violent symptoms disappear. Light spitting on the throat and continued for half an hour often arouses action and loosens out the throat sooner than the herb poultice. It is good for a change.

Whooping Cough.—This disease is greatly moderated and soon terminated by a proper use of Wakefield's COUGH SYRUP each day about the time of the greatest paroxysms of coughing—give several doses in rapid succession until you get the system considerably relaxed; also, spat the back moderately between the shoulders three times a day, or apply Wakefield's PAIN EXTRACTING PLASTER.

Measles.—When the fever is on, give freely of the COUGH SYRUP to get the system relaxed, and keep the skin continually moist by frequent sponging under the bed clothes. This is all that is generally required. If the Measles do not come out in proper time, give a few teaspoonfull doses of FEVER SPECIFIC, and a few doses after they are out, will assist to keep them from again striking in.

Catarrh.—The symptoms of Catarrh are quite similar to that of a fresh cold, and may be treated in a similar manner. It often becomes chronic and requires continued care.

Treatment.—Use the COUGH SYRUP to keep the parts relaxed and moist; soak the feet often in weak lye water. Put a very little salt and soda in soft water and snuff it up the nose to keep the parts well purified.

Scarlet Fever comes on like Measles.

Treatment.—Use the COUGH SYRUP in large and frequent doses to produce relaxation, and a teaspoonful dose of FEVER SPECIFIC three times a day. Soak the feet in hot water; make applications to the throat as prescribed for Croup.

HIGGINSVILLE, Mo., March 10th, '76.

Messrs. C. WAKEFIELD & Co., Sirs: Your COUGH SYRUP outsells anything of the kind we have ever kept. We sold out your stock, and got a new supply from St. Louis, and sold all of that but two bottles, when your last shipment arrived.

For lame back of long standing use Wakefield's PLASTERS, and for sudden attacks use the PAIN CURE.

FEVERS.

Intermittent Fever, (also, called, AGUE & FEVER and DUMB AGUE)--is distinguished by the fever coming on at regular periods of time; while in Remittent or Bilious Fever the paroxysms come on at irregular times and often with a short remission and sometimes the patient is never wholly free from fever. As these fevers prevail mostly in rich and marshy districts, they are supposed to be caused by some invisible miasma that arises from the earth, is inhaled into the lungs and absorbed into the system. It is most frequently contracted by going out early in the morning with an empty stomach--night air and great fatigue often developes it.

SYMPTOMS.—The first symptoms are a tired feeling, low spirits, yawning, headache with flashes of heat and cold; sometimes a chill immediately succeeds a languid sensation.

Treatment.—Begin with a full dose of Wakefield's LIVER PILLS as soon as possible after the symptoms are manifested, and evacuate the bowels; then follow with the FEVER SPECIFIC as per directions accompanying the same. It can be given safely, when the fever is on, by following the explicit directions that accompany the bottle, and the fever will soon disappear. The free use of cold water to the head and chest, as their directed, is of vital importance in a violent fever. In Ague and Fever it is advisable to give the FEVER SPECIFIC during the well day.

Spotted Fever--attacks persons very suddenly with shifting pains; oftener in the neck and head, with much paralysis, blindness, delirium and prostration of strength.

Treatment.—Give COUGH SYRUP and FEVER SPECIFIC in alternate doses, a teaspoonful every fifteen minutes, soak the feet in hot water, spat the limbs and hips thoroughly to bring down the blood. Rub the back from the neck down for a few minutes, apply a hot wet compress over the most painful part, then spat over that and below to arouse the action of the blood through the congested part, and do all you can to get up a general perspiration and circulation. Warm sponging, hot fermentations, or a spirit vapor bath may be used at discretion.

COMMON SENSE.—Every person should study the nature of disease and consider what effect is to be accomplished by treatment, then select the proper medicines and applications and work vigorously with them. Obstructed circulation is the general cause of disease. A chill and a fever are each results of the same cause. In the chill the efforts of nature are for a time partially overpowered, and in fever nature rallies, and produces a violent heat and action to drive out the obstructions. The nurse

"Oblong" Tea.

There is something in pronounciation, after all. A Detrouiter found it out when he went into a grocery and inquired for "oblong" tea.

A Passaic father wants to know "what will keep a respectable, but poor young man, from hanging around the front of the house?" Tell him the girl is sitting on the back fence.

Sustain your strength, under the enervating effects of warm weather, by the daily use of the WINE BITTERS.

A little boy, a few days since, while coming down stairs, was cautioned by his mother not to loose his balance. His question which followed was a puzzler: "Mother, if I was to loose my balance, where would it go to?"

Mothers, if you want to preserve your children do not stuff them.

To sharpen the appetite and give a good relish for food, take a dose of WINE BITTERS.

An Irish editor says he can see no earthly reason why woman should not be allowed to become medical men.

A philosopher was asked what was the first thing necessary toward winning the love of a woman, answered, "an opportunity."

The proper age for a parson—the parsonage.

should use every effort to open the pores and assist nature in promoting the excretions. The FEVER SPECIFIC sustains the nerve power; the COUGH SYRUP relaxes and opens the internal excretory tubes, and frequent sponging opens the pores. Spatting and rubbing over and below a congested part helps to force the circulation of the blood; which contains the main sustaining principle through the diseased parts. Thus, use thought and common sense principles in the treatment of every local symptom.

C. WAKEFIELD & Co.: Gents—1, this day, sold the last bottle of the 2 doz. Fever Specific. The people here think they cannot live without it in their houses. It cures in every case and does its own business and asks the Ague no odds. Send us 4 doz. more, and Oblige, S. W. HARPER & RUNYON.

SAM'L J. SNODDY, of Snoddy's Mills, Ind.: Says—Your Ague Specific gives perfect satisfaction; in fact it has not failed in a single instance.

B. M. PURCELL, of Prosperity, Ill.—Remarked, in a letter, that the Fever Specific gets away with the Chills and Fever every time.

M. LESENE, of Tuscumbia, Mo.: Says—Send me 4 doz. Ague and Fever Specific. It goes off like hot cakes since the people have found out its worth.

J. M. JUNKIN, of Baltimore, Kan.: Says—Your Fever Specific has saved our citizens many large doctor bills, and all of your medicines give satisfaction.

Dr. R. F. BRYANT, of Lincoln Centre, Kan.: Says—Send 3 doz. Fever Specific. I am out and all who have used it say it is the best article they have ever used for Fever and Ague.

C. L. C. BRADFIELD, of Palermo, Ill.: Says—I have had a good sale of your medicines. I sold 21 bottles Fever Specific and all gave satisfaction.

B. M. PURCELL, of Franklin Co., Ill.: Says—Your medicines are steadily gaining in popularity. Your Fever Specific, Balsam, Liver Pills and Egyptian Liniment are hard to keep on hand.

COUGH SYRUP for colds.

Various.

A western gentleman advertises for a "self-supporting wife."

To remove dandruff—Tell your wife you took Miss Smith to the theater last night.

An exchange speaks of a "young lady with blue eyes dressed in black." She must have been engaged in some domestic squabble.

Before diarrhea begins to invade your household lay in a good supply of the never failing remedy Wakefield's BLACKBERRY BALSAM.

A doctor was discovered holding a young lady in his lap the other evening, but he stated that he was examining her for an affection of the heart, and she remarked that there was no harm in laying her head on her pillar.

The undertaker and crape-dealer's motto—"Man was made to mourn."

If you have a headache, bonesache, or symptoms of biliousness, take two LIVER PILLS immediately and avoid sickness.

A lady thought that it was essence of roses that made her hair white. Jarrold suggested that it might have been the essence of thyme.

"Don't let's have any words about it," as the man said when he dodged the dictionary his wife threw at him.

DISORDERS OF THE LIVER.

The blood in its slow progress through the Liver undergoes some chemical or magnetic change by which a portion of it is converted into bile. If the Liver becomes inactive, the bile is not properly secreted or discharged into the bowels; but is carried on in the blood, which soon poisons that fluid; renders the nerves weak and produces much general lassitude. This condition, undoubtedly, is generally developed by the long continued influence of a malarious atmosphere. Some of the most common symptoms of a torpid Liver, are dull pain in the right side sometimes shooting into the shoulders, irregularity of the bowels, dry skin, cold extremities, dyspepsia, &c.

Treatment.—Take one of Wakefield's LIVER PILLS, at night, three times a week, and the WINE BITTERS before each meal. If the BITTERS should keep a regular daily action of the bowels, the use of the pills may be discontinued. In addition to the above, press out the juice of a lemon, add to it a tablespoonful of the WINE BITTERS, and take on going to bed, twice or three times a week. Dress warmly, eat scanty meals but very nourishing food without grease, sugar or coffee. Take plenty of exercise in the open air, but not to get fatigued.

Jaundice--is supposed to be caused by a stoppage of the gall duct that discharges into the bowels. The bile is thrown back into the blood. In addition to the foregoing treatment of the liver, apply hot fermentations over the gall duct which lies a little to the right of the naval.

Torpidity of the Liver and Stomach--is often the cause of declining health, causing dyspepsia, heartburn, headache, constipation and a feeling of general fatigue. Use the WINE BITTERS regularly and with a lemon at night occasionally, apply PAIN CURE to the parts that feel most oppressed, sore, or lame, and apply a few hard spats with the open hand on these parts everytime they feel uncomfortable, to arouse a more active circulation of the blood through these torpid organs.

I have cured seventeen cases of Cancer within the last two years and depend on your Liver Pills for one of the medicines to renovate the blood.—DANIEL P. BEEBE, Union Hill, Ill.

Your Liver Pills are exactly adapted to the wants of our people and have no superior.—JOHN F. THOMAS, New Philadelphia, Ill.

We find your Liver Pills to be mild, easy of action and very effectual, and we believe they have no superior.—A. P. WRIGHTER, White Rock, Ill.

Wakefield's BLACK-BERRY BALSAM only requires one trial to establish its character, as it never fails.

"Neuralgia" is the charming name of a charming girl in Wales. Her mother found on a medicine bottle, and was captivated with its sweetness. So some young man is doomed to suffer neuralgia of the heart.

A facetious boy asked one of his playmates why a hardware dealer was like a bootmaker. "Why," said the other, "because the one sold the nails, and the other nailed the soles."

If you get the chills or an attack of fever you can get no better remedy than Wakefield's FEVER SPECIFIC.

The annual consumption of coffee in the United States is 200,000,000 pounds, being five pounds to each individual.

The number of tons of coal used in the United States annually is 50,000, 000.

Old Yarns — Darned stockings.

DIARRHEA AND CHOLERA MORBUS

Apply to a relaxed condition of the stomach and bowels, often attended with nausea, vomiting and griping pains. It is often caused by eating improper food or unripe fruit in warm weather.

Treatment.—Give Wakefield's BLACKBERRY BALSAM in large doses and repeat in from fifteen minutes to two hours, as the violence seems to require. If the stomach is nauseated so as to reject the medicine, apply a mustard plaster over the stomach, and when it has drawn well, again give the BALSAM in smaller doses at first. If you should believe the stomach was loaded with indigested food, it would be well to give freely of warm water, and thus, induce vomiting before applying the mustard plaster. If the first dose of BALSAM is thrown up, the second or third may not be. Persevere. If there is griping pain in the stomach or bowels, apply a hot fermenting poultice. If the irritation is confined to the lower bowels with tenesmus or a bearing down sensation, give double doses of the BALSAM in an equal amount of water by injection.

In Chronic or Camp Diarrhea the treatment must be continued for some time, keeping the action of the bowels in proper check.

Blind Piles.—Give the BALSAM by injection.

Internal Piles--are readily cured by Wakefield's PILE OINTMENT, which will be forwarded by mail on receipt of price, 50 Cents.

Colic.—Give internally a large dose of BALSAM and apply PAIN CURE externally, or the Pain Cure may be used internally instead of the Balsam.

Summer Complaint of Children--prevails mostly in damp and impure localities in cities; but is often caused by excessive heat, or improper diet even in the most healthy country localities.

Treatment.—Keep the bowels in proper check from day to day with the BALSAM. Keep the child very passive—avoid fruit and trash—sustain the strength with nourishing food, without grease and never overload the stomach. Pure air and cleanliness is of great importance. The most healthy adult person of the family should spend five minutes or more, three times a day, in manipulating the child by continually passing the hand gently over every part of the child's skin, and especially over the spinal column, stomach and bowels. This will afford much magnetic support to the child. Light spitting all over the lower limbs, enough to arouse action, is useful to invite the circulation downward—many little aids combined produce a favorable result.

Mothers should realize that fits of passion, nervousness, sickness, or excess of any kind, debilitates the nerves of

CERTIFICATES.

WILD CAT, Ripley Co., Kan., Oct. 26th, 1875.

Dr. C. WAKEFIELD & Co.: Sirs—I have been selling your medicines for six years and would now say of them, that they have performed all that you claim for them, satisfactory to the consumer in every instance. Your Wine Bitters are the best in the market. Your Blackberry Balsam we can't speak too well of. One of my customers, John Murphey, requests me to tell you that it saved his child's life. It was almost gone with the Bloody Flux, when he got the medicine—one bottle cured him. Your Cough Syrup always stops a Cough and I sell a great deal of it. Your Pain Cure can't be beat for Old Sores and pain. Everybody here will have no other than your Liver Pills.

Very truly, yours,

J. W. STEPHENS.

J. S. FRENCH, of Concord, Mo.: Says—Your Blackberry Balsam is highly esteemed here for Summer Complaint in children. It has no equal for derangement of the bowels.

A. STREHLE, of Madison, Kan.: Says—Your Blackberry Balsam has cured several cases here on which the best doctors failed. All your medicines sell well and give perfect satisfaction.

Mr. DAVIS, (of the firm of Davis & Spurrier,) of Lisbon, Io.: Writes—My son was for 3 years badly afflicted with Chronic Diarrhea. Our physicians failed to help him. I sent him to Chicago to be treated but he failed to get much benefit. I finally tried Wakefield's Blackberry Balsam. The first bottle gave considerable relief and six bottles cured him up, and he has had no further return of the complaint since.

J. A. WELCH, of Attica, Io.: Writes—I consider the Blackberry Balsam the surest and most speedy cure for Flux that I have ever seen used. I had a case in my family where the discharges were very frequent and bloody, which, by the use of your Balsam was effectually cured in one day.

"A stitch in time saves nine!" is as true as it is old, and it is also true that one dose of Wakefield's Liver Pills or Bitters will often prevent a long and severe illness and an exorbitant doctor bill.

A traveler says if he were asked to describe the first sensation of a camel ride, he would say: "Take a music-stool having wound it up as high as it will go, put it in a cart without springs, get on top, and next draw the cart diagonally across a plowed field, and then you will form some notion of the terror and uncertainty you experience the first time you mounted a camel.

To prevent ague and fever of any kind, use Wakefield's WINE BITTERS.

Cases of consumption are said to be rare among people who dwell high above the sea-level, but pneumonia is very frequent.

Man.—"Do you think it would be safe for me to cross this pasture?" Maid.—"Well, the old bull don't like red very much, but if you will chalk your nose I guess he won't attack you."

For summer complaint of children in teething, the bowels should be kept in check, every day, with small doses of BALSAM until cool weather.

There is a village in New Hampshire which has produced twenty-six editors, and it was an allusion to this that a pious deacon remarked: "Yes, there were twenty-six on 'em; but as they've all left town I reckon the Lord wont lay it up agin us."

DYSPEPSIA.

This has become a very prevalent malady in civilized life, and is often caused by habitually overloading the stomach with rich and sweet food. The stomach being the great laboratory for the manufacture of pure blood, our health depends largely on the quantity and quality of food we put into it. We suffer far more from overloading the stomach than from overtaking any other organs.

The symptoms of Dyspepsia differ greatly on different individuals. It is quite often mistaken for incipient Consumption. A confirmed dyspeptic is generally low spirited and imagines the worst side of the case.

Good digestion requires, first that our food should be well combined with saliva in mastication; and to accomplish this, we should eat very slowly, (as the secretions are inactive in dyspepsia,) and we should take very little drink while eating. Try to be half an hour taking a light meal. Next required in digestion are the proper gastric juices, (which are weak when overtaxed, then,) the pancreatic juices and the bile.

When a person with a weak stomach takes an overload of food, or that which is hard to digest, these weak fluids do not combine with sufficient strength to produce speedy digestion. The consequence is, gasses and acids accumulate, which cause constipation of the bowels, with impure and less nutritious blood. When this habit is continued, the vital forces soon suffer depletion.

Treatment.—Strengthen the stomach and build up the vital forces with proper nutrition and outdoor air. To strengthen the stomach and invigorate the system, there is no medicine equal to Wakefield's WINE BITTERS. It should be taken as you set down to your meals and let it act with your food. Use it in such quantity as will cause a free action of the bowels each day. This will improve the appetite, strengthen the stomach and gastric juices, enable you to digest more food and build up permanent health therefrom.

The diet of a dyspeptic is of vital importance. He should never fully satisfy his appetite. By keeping his appetite a little sharp, he will keep his gastric juices strong and his blood nutritious and pure. Avoid fat meat, grease, strong coffee, strong acids, very much sugar, and everything that seems to produce gas, or inconvenience. Take but very little fluid with your meals; but rather drink at bed time or between meals. We recommend for breakfast, a raw egg beat with a teaspoonful of sugar, adding a little milk, eat this first, then light bread and butter with a little fruit if desired. For dinner, another raw egg as for breakfast; then a little tender, lean meat, one or two vegetables and light bread—no desert. This will be the principal meal. For supper one slice of light bread, not less than a day old, with butter.

Nayther of us.

"As I was goin' over the bridge the other day," said a native of Erin, "I met Pat Hewins. 'Hewins' said I, 'how are you?' 'Pretty well, thank you, Donnelly,' says he. 'Donnelly!' says I, 'that's not my name.' 'Faith, then, no more is mine Hewins.' So with that we looked at aich other again, an' sure enough it was nayther of us."

USE FEVER SPECIFIC to break up the chills then follow with the WINE BITTERS to prevent a relapse.

Presocious youth (munching the fruit of the date tree): "Mamma if I eat dates enough, shall I grow up to be an almanac?"

"Sam why am dat two pints of strawberriës, I just swallowed like massa's four eggs when dey am playin' de de pianner?" "I give it up, Julius; what's de reason?" "Why, you ignorant nigga, because it am a quart-et."

No better remedy known for biliousness, headache, or torpid circulation than the LIVER PILLS. Hereafter they will be put up in round wooden boxes to obviate gathering dampness.

An exchange says: "It is not good taste for young men to stay after ten o'clock when visiting young ladies." Our devil says he never noticed any difference in the taste after ten o'clock.

The supper should be very light. If the stomach is too weak to bear much food, eat less at a time, and take an egg prepared as before described with half a tablespoonful of good spirits added, half way between meals. Indulge in cheerful conversation, avoid overwork, keep very warmly dressed and shod, rely on a continued use of the WINE BITTERS.

A case of long standing dyspepsia, requires a long continued treatment of proper remedies and correct habits to build up the wasted energies of the stomach and secretions. The bowels must be kept open and regular as possible.

Rheumatism

Is of two kinds; Acute or Inflammatory, and Chronic.

For Acute Rheumatism keep the bowels open with the LIVER PILLS; bathe the painful parts freely and often with PAIN CURE and give internally large doses of Wakefield's COUGH SYRUP, to thoroughly relax the system and the inflammation. Sponging the body and limbs with an alkaline solution, and a vapor bath are very useful and quieting to the nerves and pain. When inflammation begins to subside, give small doses of FEVER SPECIFIC.

In Chronic Rheumatism, give one full dose of LIVER PILLS, then follow with the WINE BITTERS. Apply Wakefield's EGYPTIAN LINIMENT to the painful parts, rubbing and spitting it in for some time to relax the parts, then spat the flesh over and below the pain for some minutes as hard as the patient will allow; this will cause a rapid flow of the blood downward, which will carry off much of the obstructions. Persevere in this treatment.

Neuralgia--is a painful affection which shoots along the nerves almost like a shock of electricity. It oftener attacks the face, head or neck; but sometimes it attacks the side, hip joint and other parts.

Treatment.—First take two or three LIVER PILLS to open the bowels, then follow with the WINE BITTERS at each meal. Take a dose of FEVER SPECIFIC half way between meals and at bed time, to brace the nerves. Apply Wakefield's PAIN CURE very freely to the parts affected, rubbing it in for a long time, then cover the parts with flannel. Spat the parts vigorously from the pain to some distance below, and cause a rapid circulation of the blood from the pain downward—repeat several times a day. Bathe the feet in hot alkali water every night, and sponge all over with the same twice a week—adopt a light diet.

ICINES are unexcelled.

Reflection.

"The one thing," says Jean Paul, "which a maiden most easily forgets is how she looks—hence mirrors were invented.

Mary. — "What animal dropped from the clouds?" Charles. — "The rain, dear," was the whispered reply.

The COUGH SYRUP relaxes the circulation and disperses the symptoms of typhoid and lung fever.

The man who works with a will—The Probate Judge.

A doctor attending a punster who was very ill, apologized for being late one day by saying that he had to stop to see a man who had fallen down a well. "Did he kick the bucket, doctor?" groaned the punster.

Wakefield's PAIN CURE is composed of costly essential oils and is adapted to the most speedy relief of all pain.

"Never mind, sonny, the rain makes boys grow," remarked a tramp, the other day, when he took a silk umbarella away from a lad in the midst of a rain-storm.

"Sure, which is the entrance out?" asked an Irishman at a railroad station the other day.

The extreme height of misery is a small boy with a new pair of rubber boots, and no mud or slush in reach.

ADVICE TO INVALIDS.

The invalid should study the laws of life and eat to live, instead of merely to gratify a morbid appetite. Plain nourishing food and a few dishes at each meal are most conducive to health. Too greasy, stimulating and highly seasoned food and rich deserts, keep the system feverish, the nerves restless, the stomach sour, the blood impure, the patient wakeful, notional and often troubled with evil forebodings. Persons thus afflicted, in order to regulate their diet, should take on their plate for the meal, such articles and quantity as their judgment directs. Eat that and nothing more. Eat very slowly so as to retain each mouthful long enough in the mouth to have every particle of the food well saturated with the saliva of the mouth, which is the first important principle of digestion. A half an hour should be consumed in taking even a light meal, but let it be interspersed with cheerful conversation. Always quit eating while your appetite is strong enough to eat another slice of bread.

Enfeebled persons and dyspeptics may eat freely, but not to fullness, of lean meat; also, bread made of Graham flour, (unboulted wheat,) grits of corn, rye or oats stewed like rice and eaten with a little milk, plain apple sauce &c. A raw egg beaten with Half a teaspoon of sugar, adding a little milk, should be taken at the beginning of your meal, and next after taking the WINE BITTERS. The phosphorus in the egg gives support to the brain and nerves. The mind governs the body through the nerves. If they are weak the governing effect is imperfect. If your food sits heavily or produces gas or pain, rub and spat the parts to arouse more action. Weak and torpid organs have more or less congestion, and vigorous spitting over and below the torpid organs forces the blood through them and assists the other treatment in dispelling the obstructions. Rubbing the bowels also assist their action. Use all the little aids that will enable you to digest more food and thus gain real vitality.

Dress.—An invalid should dress in flannel and very warm, to retain their animal heat and magnetism: for if they are allowed to throw off more than they take on they will continue to decline. If the limbs are rather cold apply the hot blankets once a week, as directed under "Lung Fever."

We think you should recommend your WINE BITTERS more extensively for headache and all of the effects of slow digestion. We find it the best article we have ever obtained for those uses. —J. Y. LISTON, Great Bend, Minn.

Not there.

"Go out, young man; she's not here!" said a Pennsylvania preacher last Sunday, in the midst of his sermon, to a youth whom he saw standing hesitatingly in the doorway.

Turning the tables.—A gentleman on coming into an office and seeing an engraving of the head of a donkey hanging on the wall before him, said to the proprietor: "Is this your portrait?" "No," he replies, "it is a looking-glass."

The most prompt and effectual remedy now in use for the cure of coughs, colds, pain and tightness in the lungs, typhoid and lung fever, soreness in the chest or throat, measles, whooping cough, &c. is Wakefield's COUGH SYRUP.

Going off.—It is a popular delusion to think that powder on a lady's face has the same effect as in the barrel of a gun—assists her in going off.

Any of the most severe pains in any part of the body or limbs can be quickly relieved by a free use of the PAIN CURE.

If men would set good examples they might hatch better habits.

An Irishman tells us of a fight in which there was only one nose left the crowd, "and that belonged to the tea-kettle."

When is a sailor not a sailor? When he's a-loft.

HEADACHE.

If from a foul stomach, take a full dose of Wakefield's LIVER PILLS. If it is habitual or nervous, use regularly the WINE BITTERS. Take a warm foot bath.

Sore Eyes.—Use Wakefield's EYE SALVE. Rub it in carefully three times a day. If the Eyes are much inflamed, wash them occasionally with milk, and avoid stimulating food.

Kidney Complaint.—Apply Wakefield's PAIN EXTRACTING PLASTER externally, take the WINE BITTERS regularly, to build up the system, and immediately before breakfast each day, take a glass of water made pleasantly alkaline with the Bicarbonate of Potash or Saleratus, to purge and cleanse the Kidneys. Use this often enough to considerably increase the secretions of these organs.

Costiveness.—This disease is generally a concomitant of Dyspepsia, and sometimes seems to be the aggravating cause of it. It should be overcome by the use of the LIVER PILLS in small doses for a few days, followed by the WINE BITTERS; with a corrected diet and habits. Eat only plain unstimulating food and establish regular daily habits of attending to evacuations.

Violent Pain or Cramps, in the muscles of the body or limbs indicate an obstruction in the circulating fluids. Apply Wakefield's PAIN CURE freely to relax the parts, then cover with flannel, and spat vigorously over and below the pain. This will arouse the dormant fluids and give speedy relief.

For Sprains and Lameness.—Treat as for pain.

Paralysis.—Treat thoroughly all the parts affected, as prescribed for pain.

A visitor to Venice thus writes to his friends in all honest simplicity: "Venice is a nice place, only I must say I think it's damp. It must have rained tremendous before our arrival, for at present we can only get about the streets in boats."

Stubborn Cough.—Do not let your lungs become irritated by a dry cough, when a remedy as safe and cheap as Wakefield's COUGH SYRUP can be easily procured.

A school-master thus describes a money-lender: "He serves you in the present tense, he lends in the conditional mood, keeps you in the subjunctive, and ruins you in the future!"

The Blood makes the entire circuit of the body in about seven minutes. Before it returns to the lungs to be reoxygenized it is negative and more easily clogged in the small veins; giving pain, torpor, or paralysis. Wakefield's PAIN CURE is well calculated to relax and warm up these torpid parts.

DESTRUCTION TO RATS AND INSECTS.

For the eradication of these household pests, we now offer to the public Browen's Rat Killer in a greatly improved condition from its former state. We leave out the coloring material; make it soft and easy to spread, and seal it in Glass Bottles, and find it retains its strength and freshness without any subsequent chemical change.

It has become the leading article in the market for the destruction of Rats, Mice, Roaches, Ants, &c.

Try it, and you will find it the nicest thing in the market.

Huntley's Concentrated Benzine

Is the best article you can possibly get for cleaning, without soiling, all kinds of articles such as Laces, Silks, Gloves, Clothing, &c., &c. Manufactured by C. Wakefield & Co., and sold by all Druggists throughout the West.

Pile Ointment.

C. Wakefield & Co. also manufactures a very superior Ointment for Piles, which gives speedy relief, and will be forwarded by mail on receipt of price—50 cents.

TESTIMONIALS.

NEW WESTFIELD INDIAN MISSION, }
Franklin Co., Kan., Dec. 15, '75. }

C. WAKEFIELD & Co.: Gents—As a missionary I have had the charge of from 70 to 80 Indians at this place, during the last four years. I found considerable sickness among them, and at once introduced your Medicines. I use them all, prescribing each as circumstances require, and have been very successful with them, as the following statement of facts show: During the seven years previous to my taking charge, their loss by death had been over 80. During the last three years, under the effect of your potent remedies, but 4 deaths have occurred.

Wishing you the largest success, I am

Yours sincerely,

L. RECKSECKER.

We like your Medicines very much and they are in good demand.—N. STAFFORD, White Rock, Kan.

Your Pain-Cure gives good satisfaction, and sells well. Send on more supplies.—H. J. BAUMANN, Hosper, Io.

Wakefield's Medicines are in great demand, and give the best satisfaction of any I have for sale.—Dr. S. M. REID, Smithville, Ill.

Your Liver Pills are the best pills we have for sale, and all of your medicines give the best satisfaction.—EADS BROTHERS, Fieldon, Ill.

Your Medicines give good satisfaction in every case, and I recommend them with all confidence.—W. F. PEDDECORD, Nappanee, Kan.

Your Pain Cure is a specific for Neuralgia and Head-ach, and all of your medicines give perfect satisfaction.—H. L. RODGERS & CO., Gossett, Ill.

Your Fever Specific sells rapidly. It cures more Ague and Fever than all the doctors combined. I have ensured a great many bottles and never heard of a failure.—J. S. McLAUGHLIN, Beckville, Ind., Aug. 22nd, 1875.

Your Fever Specific cures Chills certain. I have sold largely, warranted every bottle, and had none to come back. Your Liver Pills, and all of your preparations give entire satisfaction.—REUBEN PUCKET, Magrew, Mo.

Enclosed find cash for sales, &c. Your Cough Syrup is just the thing to cure Coughs, Colds and Typhoid Fever. Your Balsam is the best thing I have for Diarrhea. In fact it never fails if used as directed.—J. W. RANKIN, Bethlehem, Io., Mar. 7th, 1875.

TESTIMONIALS.

Rev. D. S. ROSS, Pastor of the Baptist Church at Norway, Herkimer Co., N. Y. ; writes us March 20th, 1876:

Please send me eight boxes Wakefield's Vegetable Liver Pills. I am succeeding in introducing them to several, and they are liked very much; said to be the best ever used, of which I am fully persuaded by personal use. You will hear from me whenever I find use for them myself or calls from others.

Please forward us a supply of Almanacs, and with them six dozen Eye Salve. It is taking the place of all other Eye Salves.—THRALL & MUMFORD, New Harmony, Ind., Sept. 1, 1874.

We will just say to you that we keep several kinds of medicines, and your Blackberry Balsam, Pills, and Liniments out sell anything that we have ever handled. Send us a supply on receipt of this.—J. MINCHES & SON, Monterrey, Io., Feb. 5, 1874.

Your Pain Cure is taking the lead of anything out, for curing Pains, it is all it is represented to be; and even more, it has not failed in a single instance for man or beast. Your Cough Syrup is selling rapidly.—S. MILLER, Johnson, Neb., Mar. 1, 1875.

I have used your Blackberry Balsam in my practice, and find it equal to its recommendations—It cannot be excelled. Your Pain Cure is all it is represented to be. Your Specific is a specific, as its name implies, for malarial diseases.—DAVID BOZARTH, M. D., Stonefort, Ill., Jan. 1, 1874.

Your Magic Pain Cure is a valuable remedy. My liver was much disordered and I had pain in my stomach constantly for three years; doctored with different Doctors for three years without any relief whatever. When you sent your Pain Cure, I used one bottle and a half, and have not felt the pain since.—SAMUEL GLASS, La Crosse, Ill., Jan. 1873.

I have had the misfortune to shake considerably with the Ague, and the good fortune of being cured by your Ague Medicine, and now take pains to recommend them to my friends needing aid in that direction. You may remember of sending me half a dozen bottles some time since. Please send 2 bottles, by mail, to Mrs. Frank P. Church, Portland, Oregon, pay the postage and inform me of the amount and I will remit by return mail.—H. L. NORTON, Chicago, Ill., June 18th, 1874.

H. Waters' Golden Ointment.

Directions for the cure of Corns, Scalds and Frosted Parts.

It extracts the fire or frost in from ten to thirty minutes if applied soon after the accident occurs. It should be spread on linen or cotton cloth freely and applied as soon as possible. It will NEVER FAIL if applied within a reasonable length of time after the injury. It should be applied morning and evening until a new skin is formed, which will be in a few days. In case of burns it will perform a cure without leaving a scar or any evidence of injury, such as red skin or contracted flesh.

For Sore Throat, Swollen Tonsils, or Diphtheria, take about one-half a tea-spoonful of the Ointment and lay it back on the tongue, and let it dissolve on the root of the tongue, and apply externally.

FOR CORNS.—Pare the corn down and rub a little concentrated lye on, and then spread a little of the Ointment on a thin piece of buckskin and fasten on the corn.

For Chapped Hands, Old Sores, Ulcers and Fever Sores it has no equal.

For Cuts, Bruises, Chapped Face or Lips, or Poisons, apply as often as the case may require.

For Scald Head (among children), use the same as for old sores.

RHEUMATISM.—Bathe freely until the pain is all gone, then apply morning and evening for four or five days.

NEURALGIA.—Bathe immediately over the part affected and cover with a woolen cloth.

FOR EARACHE.—Bathe around the ear with the Ointment.

This Ointment will cure a Felon when the soreness first commences; even when far advanced it can be relieved and entirely cured by spreading the Ointment on a cloth and put it on the finger or part affected for a day or two. It has been thoroughly tested and proves a never failing remedy.

RICHARD BOURNS, our Agt. at Leroy, Mo. writes: I have not received the Golden Ointment yet. I could have sold six dozen long ago. There is call for it every day.

S. HOLADAY, Sedan, Kan. writes: Send me 6 doz. more Waters Golden Ointment, it takes splendidly.
